Lexington, KY America in Bloom Awards Results Announced

(COLUMBUS, OH): Top honors for the prestigious 2014 America in Bloom national awards program were announced at the annual awards held in Philadelphia, PA on October 4.

America in Bloom executive director, Laura Kunkle, said, “America in Bloom is helping participants of all types achieve their potential. Every year our participants raise the bar, and the accomplishments and progress shown by this year's towns and cities is again remarkable.”

All participants were evaluated on six criteria: overall impression, environmental awareness, heritage preservation, urban forestry, landscape, and floral displays. Additionally they were judged on their community involvement across municipal, residential, and commercial sectors. America in Bloom is the only national awards program that sends specially trained judges to personally visit participants and provide a detailed written evaluation that can be used as a guide to future improvements.

Evelyn Alemanni and Stephen Pategas, two specially trained AIB judges, visited towns of similar populations and spent two days touring each town, meeting municipal officials, residents, and volunteers. Other competitors in the over 50,000 population category were Rockford, IL; Greater Racine, WI; and Fayetteville, AR.

Lexington received a four bloom rating and a special award for the best commercial streetscape. In addition, they received a special mention for their landscaped areas.

The judges said, “Lexington's economy is an interesting mix of horses, health care, high tech, bourbon, the University of Kentucky, and tourism. During the descent of our flight into the airport, we were astounded to see lovely farms with lush green pastures, trees, fences, and horses. City vision is responsible for creating an area where you can still take a Sunday drive starting from the heart of the city and be in the country in twenty minutes.”
